An uneasy prevailing in the city's Pathorkuweri area on Tuesday afternoon has forced the city administration to clamp 144 CRPC in the area. The entire situation came to rock the area following a police firing and lathicharge after they set on fire a truck after it ran over a 11 year old school boy who was on his way back to his home on a bike with his father. As soon as the boy was left killed, an irate mob set on fire the truck and attacked its driver. Further the local people vandalized a traffic point in the area. As the situation was running out of control, police on duty resorted to lathicharge and later blankfiring to disperse the mob. Also, the district administration imposed 144 CRPC in the area.
