The All Assam Students Union threatens to call 100 hour statewide bandh alleging the failure to arrest Soobodh Biswas, who took the alleged role in the Silapothar incident.

Talking to Assam Times, AASU leaders said that they are finalizing the bandh call in a day or two to mount pressure on the government to nab Biswas who is on the run.

“We served 12 hour ultimatum which expired with utter failure. He is still remaining untouched. We won't allow it to happen,” said an AASU leader in Dhemaji.

Another local AASU leader said,” only issuing a public appeal to help arrest this culprit, police cant wash their hands off. He must be arrested. Otherwise, we are taking more and more extreme step.”

Seven days passed since Biswas incited the clash where a local AASU office was ransaked. The main culprit is still on the run.
