However, the students union working with the “mission quality education” since 2006 with the Bodo medium students in the state has observed very closely the trend of the rise of quality of the Bodo medium students.

The result of HSLC examination 2014 is one of the good and successful sign of the growth of quality education amongst the Bodo medium students in Assam.

In the consecutive years since 2006 union have the trend of number of first divisions checking the rise of quality in a very simple manner taking the total of all the First Divisions every year.

The students union said, although the Assam government has neglected since long time to the Bodo medium education in the state and despite circumcised by problems of venture schools, teacher-less schools, poor infrastructure and irregular supply of text- books of Bodo medium schools the quality of Bodo students is improving.
