The Army in a colourful ceremony yesterday dedicated a computer laboratory to Ransangigaon High School of Dibrugarh district. Undertaken by the DAH Division under the aegis and execution of 18 JAT Battalion, this OPERATION SADBHAVANA projects aims to provide the students of this school with a platform to tap in to their latent cyber skills and become future whiz kids. Lt Col Kartikeyan Rao, second in commanding officer 18 jat battalion also present on this programme.

Mr G D Tripti, DC, Dibrugarh, who inaugurated the computer laboratory, said that such projects give a take-off point to these Generation Next scholars to foray into the world where computers in all their variegate forms, have become an inescapable necessity. He also said that such pilot projects help compement development efforts of the civil administration.

Marked by a colourful song and dance programme by enthusiastic students of the school, the function brings out the success with which OPERATION SADBHAVANA projects of the Army are having small bit significant effects on the gross roots development of infrastructure of the state.
