Once again Assam-Meghalaya border dispute seems to have hit media headlines. The flashpoint this point is Koinadhara where Assam Chief Minister Tarun Gogoi has been residing at a Guest House.

Meghalaya Revenue Minister R C Laloo on Monday said that had said that Koinadhara belonged to Meghalaya and that Assam would have to vacate the hillock. In a statement, he said he had lots of documents to claim Koinadhara. Before that a senior UDP MLA demanded that Tarun Gogoi should be asked to vacate the hills or be asked to pay rent.
