

Ayodhya verdict: Assam sounds red alert

Comments 0

editor 29 September 2010 9420 views

Assam sounds red alert in view of the much awaited verdict on the Ayodhya by the Allahabad High Court on Friday. Security forces are taking their positions across the state apprehending any communal clash after the court verdict. Assam chief minister Tarun Gogoi has already sent a set of instructions to the ministers and party MLAs to rush to their home constituencies to closely monitor the situation. In a similar instruction, Gogoi has asked all district administrations to remain alert to avert any communal conflict in the form of untoward incident. Notably, a Lucknow bench of the Allahabad High Court is set to pronounce its verdict sharply at 3-30 in the afternoon on Thursday. The Supreme Court on Tuesday turned down a plea seeking deferment of the verdict.

editor

Please send your comments to editor@assamtimes.org

BY EDITOR

Witch hunting rerun in Chirang!

Police remand for Nagaon culprit

Candle lighting rally

ULFA condoles demise of SS Khaplang

Beef puts M'laya BJP in the red

ON THIS DAY

Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act notified

Sundaram to investigate SP EAC scuffle

Gold Rush for press club screening

Restore Chakma-Hajong rights: Civil body to government

Lafikul family unhappy with CBI for delay in probe
