Bhumidhar Barman was born in 1931, passed his matriculation from Tihu High School in 1951 and his batch was the last batch to pass from Calcutta University. At present Dr Barman, is the most aged Minister in the cabinet who was also the CM for some time after Hiteswar Saikia's death. Besides he was also acting CM at the time when Tarun Gogoi was in Mumbai hospital for a heart surgery. When asked how does it feel to be a seasoned Chief Minister, the octogenarian very humbly said that he is not at all bothered about what is in his hand. In the last election too Dr. Barman was in news as far as CM candidature was concerned. Even at the age of 80, he is all set to carry his political career forward.

Assam CM, Tarun Gogoi, had celebrated his 74th birthday on Monday.
