

Bridge turning death trap in Dhalpur

Comments 0

Simanta Hazarika 4 December 2017 Updated 4 Dec 6074 views

LAKHIMPUR: A vital bridge in the Dhalpur area in Lakhimpur district might turn into a death trap at any moment.

For the last couple of years the bridge over the river Pishola has been lying in a shamble in Athabari area. With no alternative route, the local residents have been running the risk of their lives on every passing moments as they cross the bridge in dilapidated condition.

Even the school boys also find it quite difficult to cross it fearing collapse at any moment. Local residents told Assam Times that they have been repeatedly apprising the authority of their plights. But of no avail. How long will this condition stay?

Simanta Hazarika

BY SIMANTA HAZARIKA

All traffic and no control on NH-15

Plight of teachers: All works and no salary

Students suffer as electricity plays hide and seek

One teacher for 6 classes!

ON THIS DAY

AJYCP protests against Lower Subansiri hydropower project

School reopening in the state

UPPL ready for election

Physical assault on magistrate in Kokrajhar

Peace Conversations in Assam

RELATED

Israeli Journalist Gideon Levy Receives 2026 PEC Award

Rodali Bora Carries Assam's Sattriya and Bihu Heritage to the UK

Statue of first Bodo engineer Haliram Brahma installed at Bodoland University

Illegal earth excavation alleged along Namti River in Nazira

Cattle theft in Geleki: One arrested, two escape
