NERHURDS, a Changsari based Non Governmental Organisation in the district of Kamrup (Rural) has organised an one day youth programme on career awareness at Saraighat College on July 4. Prof Dilip Kumar Baruah, former principal of Cotton College, Ms Navmita Bhattacharya from Career Cliniq and Ranjan K Baruah participated as the resource person in the programme. Prof Dilip Baruah spoke about Union Public Service Commission's Civil Service examination and how one can prepare for those examinations. In his speech he mentioned that medium is not a bar for civil service examinations and any students can appear for it. He told the participants about some person who cleared the examination from Assam since Ananda Ram Barooah who passed the civil service exam in 1870. Navmita Bhattacharya and Ranjan K Baruah focused on other career option which can be opted by the students after senior secondary level or after the graduation level. There was interaction amongst participants, parents and teachers and resource person on various topics.
