Hundreds of students of Raha college appearing for the BA fifth semester honors examinations under Guwahati University that commenced on Tuesday faced inconvenience at the examination hall as the college authority failed to supply them the question papers of five subjects.

According to information the honors students of History, Geography, Political Science, Economics and Education subjects were left panic-stricken in the examination hall after they were not given the question papers by invigilators on the first day of their fifth semester exams.

" When we asked for our question papers the invigilators on duty said that the university authority failed to despatch the question papers to our college" the examinees said. "The college authority told us to wait for some hours till they arrange photocopy of the question papers from other institution," said the students reacting on the bitter experience on the first day of their examinations scheduled to held from 9 am.

Finally, the college authority managed photocopy of the question papers of the respective subjects and distributed among the examinees , but the process took two hours time.

"We were made to wait till 11.30am for question papers and even extra time was not granted to us. The college and university have given us tense moments that has affected our performance," aggrieved students told this correspondents.

Meanwhile, the parents of the students blamed the college authority for their casual and negligent attitude that led to chaos.
