

Curves Shades 2010 - painting and photography exhibition ends successfully

Comments 3

JinkiSaikia 5 June 2010 11514 views

The most talked about event among the young artists from Delhi, “Curves & Shades” was held on May 29 - June 3 at State Art Gallery, Guwahati. It has attracted due attention from artists and patrons likewise.

“Curves & Shades”, an annual event which was formed in 2004 to limelight and endorse the creative aptitude in the field of painting and photography from the North East, where youth from diverse field can come together to represent artworks depicting people, life, culture and nature. These art forms manifest themselves through the works of artists and photographers from each state of Northeast. The “Curves & Shades” will tour all the 8 northeastern states exploring and providing a new platform to budding and new talents from various parts of the region.” says Ranjan Engti, Chief Coordinator.

The 7th episode of the event featured three artists and three photographers. Along with Ranjan Engti, Augustine Rongpi, Internationally known Karbi Artist from Diphu who has been successfully exhibiting his works in France for last 5 years, showcased paintings in the event. Displaying her colorful works inspired by nature and positive attitude is Jinny Barman, an artist, writer, poet and Associate Editor of an upcoming newspaper from Karbi Anglong “The Tribal Reporter”; Shutterbugs like Dhritiman Deori, a talented music composer from Guwahati (with his already hit music album “Mon Akax” in the stands) and Pankaj J Dutta, a product of Sari Academy of Professional Photography in Mumbai participated in the event. Also capturing life in frames Shisir Basumatary (photographer and digital artist) who is also a senior editor of Penguin Publication in New Delhi was part of the event.

Jinki Saikia, Guwahati

JinkiSaikia

ON THIS DAY

AJYCP protests against Lower Subansiri hydropower project

School reopening in the state

UPPL ready for election

Physical assault on magistrate in Kokrajhar

Peace Conversations in Assam
