Fashion and designing has now been drawing attention of young people all over India, a few creative young people of Assam too have established themselves well in the field. But still it's not been so easy to arrange fashion shows in district level. People still consider it an affair of glamour models.

Juri Sarma, daughter of Sarat Sarma and Phuleswari Devi of Mangaldai (Assam) successfully arranged a fashion design show of kids at Mangaldai Natya Mandir on July 19 and had won much needed public appreciation. The show titled “Mr.& Miss of Darrang could very much impress people of Mangaldai. The show also acted positively in removing misconceptions on fashion and design. On the occasion, Juri Sarma presented fifty pairs of her attractive design work to the delight of people.

Jyotishman Sarma Hitali Sarma Barua won Master kid of Darrang and Miss kid of Darrang respectively, while Farhad Adnan and Kamalina Choudhury won first and second runners up respectively. Noted choreographer Prasanta Bordoloi, international fame dancer Bhanu Deka and designer Preeti Saloi attended the show as the judges while Juri Sarma anchored the proceeding. A total of 50 boys and girls participated in the event. Later Talking to this scribe ,Juri Sarma told that government of Assam must introduce fashion and designing as compulsory subject in schools, which according to her would help boys and girls earn self sufficiency in life.
