All is not well with Assam BJP if the scheme of things within the party are any indication. If these are allowed to continue, the party will have to pay heavy price in the assembly polls early next year. This was what BJP's internal note available with the central leadership.

According to reliable sources, the party is still not prepared to take on Congress in the assembly polls. The internal inputs find lack of comfortable cooperation among the party leaders. The confidential report further outlines lack of media management and connection with grass root level workers.

The party's central leadership is expected to study the report and is likely to act accordingly. The state is all set to go to the polls by March-end. The report was prepared when party president Amit Singh was on a two days visit to the north eastern region.
