A team of Guwahati citizens has arrived in Halflong today to study the socio-political problems of NC Hills district. During the mission, the team will interact with a varied section of people of the hills district and try to understand the burning issues. The initiative has been taken following a resolution adopted in a citizen meet held at Guwahati Press Club few days back. The team is supposed to carry the message from the trouble-torn district to the greater section in the society. Led by the cultural activist Loknath Goswami, the team includes IPTA worker Jayanta Gogoi, poet Kamal Kumar Medhi with journalists Nava Thakuria, Anup Sharma, Nituparna Rajbongshi and Prasanta Datta.
