The Gauhati High Court on Wednesday will hear Akhil Gogoi's bail petitions moved two days back.

The court took up these petitions on Thursday moved by his counsel. But could not proceed due to non receipt of police case diaries in time.

Senior police officials who have been dealing with the three particular cases pending against the KMSS president one in Bharalumukh police station and two others in Khetri police station informed that they were busy with maintaining law and order in the city.

Then the court fixed Wednesday as the date of next hearing. Before that the Kamrup district and sessions court remanded Gogoi to judicial custody after he was produced before it.

The court, however, asked the authorities to ensure his treatment of back ache at the GMCH by Friday.
