Is Chief Minister Tarun Gogoi telling lie on AIUDF's alleged nexus with jihadi elements in Bangladesh? AGP thinks so. The opposition party contradicts the chief minister alleging that Gogoi was telling lie. The regional party will take out procession across the state on Friday demanding action against AIUDF president.

Before that Gogoi made it plain and simple on Thursday that the government has no specific evidence to prove AIUDF's nexus with jihadi elements in Bangladesh.

Addressing a press conference in New Delhi, Gogoi said that he has nothing to hide and that only his government can probe the allegations against the AIUDF chief. He said without specific evidence nobody can initiate action against the Dhubri MP.
