Prime minister Narendra Modi speaks of his mind. In his address at the second and last day of the DGP-IGP conference in Guwahati on Sunday, Modi talks of his own concept of smart police.

“I have a new concept ie smart police. Smart Police requires sensitive, model and mobility, alert and accountable, Reliable and responsive, tech savy and trained.

He said the two days conference is a great moral booster for the north eastern region where militancy continues to stifle development. He further said that there is no dearth of weapons for the policemen. But these weapons should be placed in the right hands.
