

Noted scholar Bhuban Konwar passed away

Comments 0

mridulburagohain 1 May 2011 8612 views

Noted scholar and SEBA ex-Secretary Bhuban Konwar passed away on April 30 at Guwahati. He was suffering from kidney trouble in the last few days. He was born at Demow Konwar Dehingia Goan, Sivasagar in 1947 in a farmer family. He was son of late Phanidhar Konwar and Harumai Konwar. He studied in Demow Dehijan L.P. School and Demow High school. After his matriculation in 1965 he joined DSHK college, Dibrugarh and later he completed M.Sc. in chemistry from Dibrugarh University. Then he joined in AMC Dibrugarh as Demonstrator and retired as Secretary of SEBA in 2005. He has done many work for development of science education in entire North East India.

mridulburagohain

BY MRIDULBURAGOHAIN

Encephalities vaccination campaign at Demow

Encephalitis in Demow: 2 dead

Accident at Moran Tilo Nagar, 2 dead

Dipak Gogoi wins Mr. India at Villai

Tortoise recovered at Demow

ON THIS DAY

AJYCP protests against Lower Subansiri hydropower project

School reopening in the state

UPPL ready for election

Physical assault on magistrate in Kokrajhar

Peace Conversations in Assam
