On Tuesday, 16 August at around 8.30 am, the Christ Jyoti School of Nagaon was shaken by a phone call that was received by the Father of the school. The phone call created a panic among the Teaching staffs, School authority and the Students community. According to information, the Father of the school received a phone call on the school's land line number where it was said that there was a bomb kept inside the school premises and soon it was going to blast. The Father soon informed the police about the call and the district administration as well.

The police reached the spot and shifted the school students to a secure place. But Police could not find out any bomb in the school campus. Police investigation is on to find out the caller. No one has been arrested till now.
