It's a startling revelation that could land the Tarun Gogoi Government in trouble. Another ULFA People's Consultative Group member Hiranya Saikia has charged some politicians, bureaucrats, police and army officials with hatching a conspiracy to kill him. According to Saikia, he had received threats on his life over telephone and also through SMS from one Bakul Das, a self styled sergeant major of 709 battalion of the ULFA. Significantly, Saikia's allegations came after the arrests of another PCG member Lachit Bordoloi and advocate Nekibur Zaman. Saikia alleged that the government used them to win the last Assembly polls. "Now the time is over. We are being thrown," he said.
