The door of the Rajbhawan is finally open for the local people on Monday 11th August as Governor of Assam Shiv Charan Mathur will allot one hour of his daily time from 11 am on every Monday and Thursday for meeting public without any prior appointment. However, the Governor's Grievance Redressal Cell shall function daily later on, said a Raj Bhawan source.

During the one hour allotted for them, the general members of the public can approach the Raj Bhawan, Assam after ascertaining the presence of the Governor in station and submit their willingness to attend the Public Grievances Redressal Cell and on reaching the Raj Bhawan during the designated hours, they will be able to interact with the Governor.

To ascertain the presence of the Governor in station and to receive any prior information on the Governor's Grievances Redressal Cell, interested persons can contact the Raj Bhawan at telephone number 0361-2540500 between 10 am and 5 pm every weekday.

The Raj Bhawan shall intimate the State Government of the availability of the Governor in station for attending the Governor's Grievances

Redressal Cell and the Public Relations Officer of the Government shall issue press release on the same, said the press release.
