Road shows have come to an end. Rahul Gandhi got rousing response from lakhs of the people on his way from Nagaon to Tezpur on Wednesday afternoon.

Sitting on the hood of his car, the Congress vice president was waving at the people who were patiently waiting for a glimpse of him on the road side.

Whenever he saw crowd his convoy started moving at a snail's pace to facilitate the people shake their hands with the Nehru-Gandhi scion.

Cultural teams were displayed on the road side in many place as Gandhi's convoy was moving from Nagaon to Tezpur.

At around 4-30 in the afternoon, Gandhi reached Salanibari from where he left for Jorhat by a helicopter where he is scheduled to meet the women Congress activists en route to New Delhi.
