

Sivasagar blast muffles public rally by pro talk ULFA

editor · 15:30, 21 Sept 2008 · 12062 views · 2 min read

Despite the blast that rocked Sivasagar town on Saturday evening, the pro talk ULFA faction is holding a public rally for restoration of peace and normalcy in the town on Sunday. But amid tight security arrangement.

According to information, preparation for holding the peace rally is completing and the ULFA cadres under ceasefire are working overnight to make the rally a grand success. Security has been tightened and police have intensified checking on the city streets. All these elaborate security arrangement have been made hours after ULFA's powerful bomb blast in Sivasagar on Saturday evening.

Notably, 28 people have been injured at a powerful explosion in Sivasagar town in upper Assam. The explosion took place at around 6-50 in the evening at Rangghar Chariali when the streets were teeming with people. The injured people have been shifted to the Civil Hospital while three of them, seriously injured, have been rushed to the Assam Medical College in Dibrugarh. No organisation has claimed responsibility but it's said to be the handiwork of ULFA as the bomb was planted at distance of 20 away from 316th Field Regiment of Army. Investigation id in progress. But no one has so far been rounded up in this connection.

editor

Please send your comments to editor@assamtimes.org

---

Original URL: <https://assamtimes.org/article/sivasagar-blast-muffles-public-rally-by-pro-talk-ulfa-1997> | Published: 21 September 2008 | © 2026 Assam Times