ULFA and the government are well prepared to begin the much awaited peace talks on March 10.

Disclosing this top ULFA leaders told journalists that the talk would be unconditional. Foreign secretary Sasha Chaudhury said ULFA always wants an amicable settlement to the problems crippling the people of Assam.

Vice chairman Pradeep Gogoi said self styled C in C Paresh Barua is yet to respond to their call and that it would in no way hamper the peace initiatives.

Gogoi said Paresh Barua is bound to go with the general council decisions.
